If you can't take defeat don't enter the contest

We still have a good many people who have remedies they are willing to give away

Hotels that advertise rooms at $1 00 a day up are mostly out of the lower priced rooms when you arrive

It is true we have many foolish laws but the worst come from the non enforcement of the good ones

The King business will always be popular and will always be hazardous

The strike in Belgium is probably too far off to cause a sympathetic strike in this country

Wilson is a great disappointment to his political cronies who thought he would have stepped in it by this time

Good many have done their sulking far in advance but many of them feel like they will get a job on the road some time

It begins to look like that when you recommend a man for public office you should be sure he is all you say he is, as Gov O Neal has intimated.

You have probably heard of several hundred men who got so mad you thought they would bust but death certificates still give other causes of death

Way up in Massachusetts they are electing democrats to congress The land keeps sliding till we will have almost as many democrats in Washington as we want

There is no end for Heflin and Hobson to pick up trouble with each other about woman suffrage in Alabama It isn't in their power to settle it matters not how many speeches they make for or against it

California doesn't propose to let the Japs buy up any of that land unless they propose to make citizens of the United States. The state has passed an anti alien land bill providing that foreigners which is meant mainly for Japs shall not own lands unless they are legalized citizens of this country

This woman suffrage movement is a blow at constitutional government as the fathers ordained it says Tom Heflin who thinks to make it an issue in Alabama if he can get the proper encouragement It is barely possible that the people of his district care but little as yet whether women vote or not and they had much rather talk Mr Heflin work in congress just now than have him come to Alabama to meet Capt Hobson on a women suffrage question

Speaking of hard work but the democratic senators and congressmen of the south are having a third of it This is the first time like this they have had in sixteen years for merely they could get very few of office seeker that they were powerless to help them out as the republicans were so right, everything good Not so now The democrats have the pie handling, and the people know it and they are calling on the officials at Washington to cough up and produce results. It will be a hard thing to produce results that will not leave a dangerous sting, and kickback.

NELSON ACQUITTED

THE SHERIFFS WONT LET THE PRISONERS PERISH

Some of the ordinary citizens of the state who have but little [illegible] with the inner working of [illegible] country of the state may not know that the legislature appropriated $10 000 for feeding the prisoners of Alabama Well according to state Auditor Smith this money is all gone and no more will be available till the first of October Meanwhile the jails still are pretty well occupied and the keepers—the sheriffs, have a problem on their hands They must go down in their pockets for money to pay the feeding bills or stand the grocer off The state has no relief to offer It has no money on hand just at this time for a year the appropriation was not exhausted till June and next year will be exhausted much earlier than it was this year

Prisoners contemplating doing time in jail should time their departure from home so as to get in jail when there is a feeding fund available else they could make private arrangements with the county sheriffs for board on a credit

Of course the sheriffs are not going to let any prisoners perish to death They know the money is forthcoming after awhile and the pay will be good but State Auditor Smith thinks that if the legislature ever does meet again it will find ways to overcome this short [illegible] which is growing worse every year like the pensions for old soldiers

THEY ARE READ THAT KIND

There are many business people who don't believe advertising at the rate very much but a Kansas paper tells this is a true story

The editor of a little country paper in Nebraska went to the county seat to solicit advertising and spent some time in town with a man who sells onion bulbs He had agreed that if he would work money to advertise onions in a country paper but finally another [illegible] editor to publish a small display [illegible] onion bulbs and was [illegible] for $18 In settling up [illegible] the bill, an composition [illegible] $9 50 after the manner [illegible] diligent compositors The [illegible] was issued a week later and on Monday about a million farmers were to the county seat expecting to buy onion sets for a dollar and a quarter a bushel The editor had to [illegible] an auctioneer to help him [illegible] matters and was paid enough to pay twenty cents on the dollar [illegible] days after he had [illegible] two dozen [illegible] onions [illegible] office [illegible] weeks [illegible] week The story should regret [illegible] those who [illegible] people don't read all [illegible]

We somehow believe that time appointment in this [illegible] they will not be made with [illegible]

WHY JESUS DIED FOR SINNERS ALL

We Have All Erred in the Past, Said Pastor Russell.

The Penalty For Sin According to the Bible Contradicts Our Creeds—The Bible Theory Reasonable—A Ransom Price For Sinners Was Necessary Under the Penalty—How It Could Have Been Different Had God Pleased—How Jesus Suffered the Penalty of the Sinner—He Redeemed Not Only the Church but Also the World—How All For Whom He Died Must Ultimately Be Profited—Divine Justice as Well as Divine Love Involved—The Glorious Outcome

PASTOR RUSSELL

[illegible] Pastor Russell [illegible] the Divine Plan of the Ages [illegible] today was [illegible] Text Romans 5:8 [illegible] Jesus died [illegible] for us [illegible]

The speaker declared that while the Bible every where implores the importance of Jesus death yet Christians today seem to be perplexed upon the subject. Some claim that neither His life nor His death was different from that of other men. Others claim that Jesus came into the world to show mankind how to live and die for a good cause. Others bewildered declare that they see no relationship between Jesus death and what they have been taught is the penalty for sin viz eternal torment.

In general still the Easter there is confusion upon the subject and only those who get the proper focus on the question of why Christ died can be unmuddled as to and entirely satisfied with the great Plan of God by which the death of Jesus for humanity redemption is a part.

The Pastor proceeded to discuss the common creeds of Christendom in the light of the Bible and reckoning the results thereof. He declared that any man who is enough to offer to the inspired Word should be accepted as an inspired authority capable of writing a better statement of the Divine Plan. He believes that the Holy Scriptures as set forth and declared were written aforetime by holy men for the admonition of the Church because God wishes His people to understand His arrangements. We should hold fast the faith once delivered to the saints and not allow the wisdom of men to make the Word of God of none effect. He reminded his hearers that Jesus reproved the Pharisees for neglecting the Word of God and preferring the traditions of men.

Our English Bible said he does not profess to be the Word of God but merely a translation of it. If therefore we find mistranslations which misrepresent the original Scriptures we should correct these and admit that the translations are not inspired.

Jesus Died to Meet Man's Penalty

Orthodox creeds do not dispute that there is a penalty against mankind. These creeds agree that Adam father of humanity was created perfect in the moral image of his Maker but that he sinned and came under a penalty because of that sin. All mankind having inherited life from him share his condemnation to death. God having sentenced man to death cannot consistently deal with the sinner. Hence He arranged that Jesus should redeem Adam and his posterity from that condemnation—in order that they might have opportunity to return to harmony with Him and thus to eternal life.

This said the Pastor is clearly set forth in both Old and New Testaments. If we could forget our creeds and the false theories which they inculcate these Scriptures would guide us without difficulty. Christendom is hindered cripped by creeds of the Dark Ages which confuse us. For instance these creeds teach that God's cause against mankind is eternal torment.

"The Wages of Sin is Death"

Most emphatically the Bible declares the wages of sin to be death—not torment. Yet we should think that only the body dies but that the soul continues to live. The Scriptures say: The soul that sins shall die. God is able to destroy both soul and body in Gehenna—the Second Death. The penalty against Adam "Dying thou shalt die" signifies the death of his soul—his entire being. Under that sentence Adam and his race unless redeemed would have no future life.

But God from the very beginning purposed to redeem man from this death sentence. He purposed to send forth His Son to pay man's redemption price—to die for man. Christ's redemptive work would restore man's soul from the power of the tomb by a resurrection from the dead. St Paul expresses this matter in few words—saying: As by man came death (not eternal torment) by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as all in Adam die even so shall all in

CORN CLUBS AND SOUTHERN AGRICULTURE

In the late Dr S. A. Knapp and the co-operative farm demonstration work he so successfully conducted much of the new spirit of Southern agriculture is due. Dr Knapp was not only a great organizer but also a great advertiser. He put his men to work on the farms of the South teaching, and demonstrating better methods of cultivation seed selection and fertilization. He organized the boys and girls of the men into Corn Clubs and other clubs to try for big yields and then he let the whole country know just what he had accomplished.

The names of Jerry Moore and Blanche Benson and other Corn Club prize winners became familiar to men and women all over the country along with their big yields 228 and 187 bushels to the acre respectively for the two boys named.

It is doubtful if any other one thing has done as much to bring a realization of the possibilities of Southern soils to the country at large as has this farm demonstration work. It has brought the same realization to thousands of Southern farmers who had been on their own authority new conception of their section and their calling. And this new appreciation of the possibilities and the rewards of farming is just as potent a factor in the regeneration of Southern rural life as is the knowledge of better methods of doing farm work.

Southern farmers and the world generally are beginning to see that the small average yields of Southern staple crops are not necessary and permanent but are only the results of poor farming by this and past generations of farmers. This knowledge carries with it the conviction that the methods and practices of farming must be changed. The South owes a debt of gratitude to Dr Knapp and he owed it not only for what the farm boys but also for the joy that they told folks about it. From The New Spirit in Southern Farming, by F H Miller in the American Review of Reviews for April.

Where Fashion Is Individual

The fashion in Kiangsu province China is whatever one wants Every man wears what is right in his own eyes A panama gets jauntily down the street followed by a fur covered brim cap Felt hats of scarlet and verdigris green follow along with grays and browns that really do the amateur hatters credit Eskimo top capes, a few derby hats and the smart military uniforms give the streets a piquancy that was missed formerly in the monotonous China blue crowds Of all the notices posted on the city gate the one that attracts the most attention is the fashion plate that has been exhibited for weeks It displays two or three of the typical western suits There are the swallow tailed and the low front frock for evening functions There one finds the plaited skirts recommended for the women The silk or stovepipe hat has its corner with the other felts

"Tramp's" Advice on Care of Feet

A tramp writes Bathe your feet as often as you can Before retiring give them a good soak in hot water with salt in it For untaughened feet use a boot not too tight with a thick sole a low heel and wear two pairs of stockings Each day before starting—and during the day if needful—apply vaseline or tallow very freely to any parts that chafe Little pads of cotton carrying vaseline tucked between troublesome toes or plastered on the surface of the foot anywhere that there is trouble simply work wonders Starting with soft muscles and tender feet the writer has walked hundreds of rough miles without a particle of distress in the feet simply because they were given good care

Surgery and Crime

Surgical treatment to turn a confirmed criminal into a useful citizen received a bad setback in a case where a great apparent change after such an operation led to the pardon of the remade man His release was followed by a series of burglaries which necessitated his return to durance vile Perhaps one of the reforms to come will be the better protection of society from theory and experiment connected with the criminal classes So far the experiments made to prove that morality is merely a matter of physiology have not been brilliantly successful—Baltimore American

His Elaborate Dinner

It was in the grillroom of a local cafe and two visitors took seats at a table in the corner I am as hungry as a bear and I am going to order an elaborate dinner one of them was heard to remark Everybody listened to hear just what his dinner consisted of having visions of terrapin pate de fois gras and maybe fresh strawberries After carefully scanning the menu and looking at the price list he said something to the waiter in a low voice who answered Ham and eggs suh? PUBLIC INTEREST IN SPORTS

It is the Spectacular in Athletics Which Makes Games Popular With the People

If interest in athletics were confined to athletes the value of athletics would be lessened about 99 per cent The only way to rouse public interest in athletic sports is by their spectacular character

The value of football lies in the ten thousand prairie organizations which train a hundred thousand boys in nerve and team work each year But these prairie towns would not exist if the great college teams did not give thrilling spectacles each fall These great matches keep up that keen public interest without which football would be forgotten

The same is true of baseball Every lad swatting balls in a vacant lot models his play on that of some big league hero and dreams of himself in that hero's place on the diamond

A sport which is only a spectacle would not be worth much But a sport which has no exhibition value never gets beyond a small circle If America ever finds a winter game to take the place which base ball holds in summer and football in autumn it will be a game which rivals these great sports in thrilling spectacular appeal

GETS WOMEN'S LAW CASES

Modesty Keeps Some From Going to Men, Says New Zealand Practitioner

A woman who practices as a lawyer in New Zealand has been induced in connection with the bar's disapproval of the admission of women to the Inns of Courts to narrate her experiences of forensic life

My clients she says are principally women but my services are sought by some men Matrimonial and separation cases have in the main claimed my attention Mrs De Costa is convinced that without her services many a case would never have been dealt with

The woman in many instances prefers a matter in silence rather than unfold her story to a man solicitor however sympathetic he may be she says

Does this not support the contention that if women were allowed to practice at the bar in England they would be engaged principally in the delicate cases in which their appearance would place their men opponents as well as judges and juries under a feeling of restraint which would interfere with the proper administration of the law

HOW GIRLS CAN EARN MONEY AT HOME

In the May Woman's Home Companion appears an article showing how girls have earned money at home Following is a part of the testimony from contributors

When I finish my schooling, the boys hold accounts and fancy ordering were handed over to me and I gained a knowledge of food values and household economics Going to market three times a week I purchased the meat for some of our neighboring friends as well and learned the different cuts and how to discriminate between the good and the poor

One day one of those friends called me how much I thought I should pay for a hundred and fifty eggs ought to cost I estimated what sounded reasonable to her and she asked me if I would come in and assist her as a daughter of the house might do I was delighted and took hold with enthusiasm She finding me capable left the whole affair in my charge It was such a success that when I found myself in need I thought of this as a business

In some cases I am called upon to supply merely the refreshment the hostess depending upon her own help for the service At other times I take full charge over the decorations supplying help china silver and linen I became a holder of the china silver but gradually I have purchased my own but only such things as my hostess would be ashamed of owning

The maids I employ are competent waitresses they always look neat and trim in their black and forms while I wear simple white gowns of lawn or crepe

An hour or so before the reception on the appointed day I arrive with the necessary help and with the refreshments all prepared except tea and coffee We reach the session and have everything in readiness when the hour of serving is at hand

I make it a point that no soiled cups or napkins shall remain for an instant on the serving table and that the dishes are kept very nicely The result is that the table when we are through serving looks as dainty and fresh as when we began Each dish is washed and the kitchen put in perfect order before we leave

EVERY WOMAN SHOULD READ THE LABEL ON THE GOODS SHE BUYS

In the April Woman's Home Companion John Phillips Street Pure Food Commissioner of Connecticut writes a very interesting message to women an extract from which follows

There seems to be a general impression that the Pure Food Law prevents the manufacture and sale of impure food This unfortunately is not so The law simply makes it possible for us to tell the pure food from the impure

The manufacturers obey the law but some of them obey only to the letter of the law

Your part is to make the law useful to protect your stomach and your pocketbook by reading the labels which the Pure Food Law compels the manufacturers to paste on their products

This is not as simple as it sounds Manufacturers often try to befog the consumer by using complicated labels filled with long scientific terms or by employing tricks of pronunciation and printing The housewife who can see through these tricks and correctly interpret these labels will always receive the worth of her money

Adulterated food is not necessarily dangerous to the health but it is to the family purse Any adulterated food product properly labeled can be placed on the market provided that the adulterant employed is not deleterious Pure food needs no label An impure food often needs much explanatory data to make its sale legal The more the explanation a label carries, the more watchful and wary the housewife should be in examining it

It is the province of each housewife to decide whether she wishes such adulterants served on her table as a matter of economy It is ridiculous for her to pay for such adulterated food as much or almost as much, as she would pay for a pure and wholesome article

Pity the Unpainted House!

Would you go out in the pouring rain wearing your best clothes if you had no protection such as an umbrella or raincoat? Not if you could help it, you say.

Yet some people expose expensive material to the elements without adequate protection The building material in your house is exposed and should be protected Otherwise it will be ruined as surely as the fine clothes you wouldn't wish to wear out in the rain

MEMORY.

O memory with wondrous power
xThou dost recall a bygone hour'
By marest chance I touch a key,
And swiftly comes the past to me
my darling s face aagin I see,
I hear her words, so brave and true,
And better work I try to do

Will my beloved gone before,
Remember me on that bright shore
Where all is beautiful and fair?
If I at last may enter there,
Will her sweet face a welcome wear
O, shall I see beyond the skies
The love light beaming in her eyes?

When I have crossed the mystic river,
My labors ended here forever,
Will something I have said or done
Give strength to some discouraged one
Who still the earthly course must run?
What words of mine will memory keep
When I at last shall fall asleep?

ALL THREE FOUND GUILTY IN TRIAL OF ICONOCLAST

Birmingham Ala, April 22—The decision of Recorder Clement Wood was that the publishers of Howlin Iconoclast the sensational weekly were guilty of publishing obscene matter and each of the three defendants was fined $100 and sixty days in each of the three cases J D Thomas J D Evans and J S Brown were the three defendants and they were also fined for doing business without license in several cases

The case was tried last Friday and the decision rendered today The Recorder holds that if the defense that attempted suppression of the publication was an effort to check the right of free speech were found the cause would indeed be serious
